Reacquainted

These past three years have seen me as only minimally involved with our Yakima Chamber activities. I would occasionally attend a general membership luncheon and a legislative committee meeting. However, with the activity of the past two months as your interim President/CEO the daily Yakima Chamber business has reacquainted me with the many activities we do to encourage and support business in the communities we serve.

Recently I was part of a group of community leaders discussing the Yakima Valley. We live and work here because Yakima is a good place to live (quality of life) with great weather (all four seasons), abundant water (working on more storage, black rock/pine hollow) and many community/family activities. The group was also discussing areas of concern for the Yakima Valley. The areas we all agreed where important are jobs/careers. We continue to export our most valuable assets our children. Many go away to higher education not to return because of the lack of career opportunity in the valley, we need to change that! Other concerns to address are education, workforce development and safe, healthy communities.

Your Chamber is presently involved in education and workforce development with our Business Education Partnership (BEP) and safe/healthy communities with Citizens for Safe Communities (CSC). All three areas of concern we believe to be connected. BEP and CSC are working to build a better environment of our business community. As chamber members we all need to do our part by being involved as much as possible with the different divisions of the chamber.

The Yakima Chamber has four divisions with 12 sub committees to peak your personal interest for involvement/participation in Chamber activities. The Government Division is chaired by Charlene Upton/Mike Dooley with sub committees; State Government Affairs, Regional Government Affairs, Military Affairs (YTC), and Economic Development. The Member Service Division is chaired by Rich Austin/K.L. Whombacher with sub committees; Mailer Networking, Communications & Marketing, and Business Recognition & Awards. The Education Division is chaired by Craig Dwight with sub committees; Business Education Partnership, Biz Seminars & Workshops, and Leadership Yakima. The finance Division is chaired by Mike Broadhead/ Roy Bauerle with sub committees; Financial Management and Member Services.

Jon Mulvenon
Interim President & CEO

I want to thank all who were involved is asking me to assist the Chamber while we search for a new President/CEO. The experience has been a challenge but I have enjoyed getting reacquainted with the Greater Yakima

Chamber of Commerce and being involved with our community. Chamber members; pick your area of concern and get involved! ■

Chair of The Board - Roy Bauerle

-Background-

Personal: 3 Children grown and living in CA 5 Grandchildren living in CA. Moved to Yakima from California in 2007 when Granite acquired Superior Asphalt.

Education: BS Business Administration San Jose State University

Chamber Experience: Starting 2nd term on the Board. Finance Committee, Executive Committee, CEO Selection Committee

Roy Bauerle
Board Chair

-Business Philosophy-

Guiding Principles: Do what you say you will do.

Yardstick of Success: Getting it done.

Advice to Others: Businesses always take care of themselves. Employees must do the same.

-Judgment Calls-

Best Business Decision: If your gut is telling you not to hire someone then don't.

One Word Description of You: Learner

-True Confessions-

Like Best About Your Job: You never know what the new day will bring.

Interests/Hobbies: Woodworking, hiking, I like to cook.

Pet Peeve: Backpackers who leave their shoes too close to the fire. It's just too risky if you have a long walk home.

Things You Need To Work On: When working on large spreadsheets, I need to pay attention to the details. The results can get ugly.

-Predilections-

Favorite Book: Curtis Creek Manifesto

Favorite Movie: Still "Cool Hand Luke" with Paul Newman

Favorite Quote: "No regrets just lessons" (don't know the original source but it fits).

Favorite Song: "It's Five O'clock Somewhere" (Jimmy Buffett...go figure)

Favorite Vacation Spot: Australia, Italy

Favorite Way to Spend Time: Traveling with my 3 children.

Who I Would Like to Meet: Jimmy Buffet and Winston Churchill (only if he is in heaven and not tomorrow)

Personal Hero or Inspiration: My grandson Martin...I know he can do anything...

Anything You Would Like To Add?

Though Yakima is quite different from where I came from in California, This place has grown on me. The adjustment was quite easy and I thoroughly enjoy living here. It is a beautiful place to live, and some of the best people that I have ever met live here. ■

Local Photographer named Professional Photographers of America Photographer of the Year

Four photographs created by Lance Johnson of Image West Photography have recently been accepted in the General Collection with one in the Loan Collection of Professional Photographers of America's 2011 International Photographic Competition. Johnsons work will be on display at the Ernest N Morial Convention Center, January 15th – 17 2012 in New Orleans, La. A panel of eminent jurors selected the top photographs from more than 4000 total submitted entries.

Judged 15th – 17 2012 in New Orleans, La. A panel of eminent jurors selected the top photographs from more than 4000 total submitted entries. Judged against a standard of excellence, over 1500 images were selected for the general collection and just over 600 (15%) were selected for the esteemed Loan Collection- the best of the best. The loan collection images will all be published in the much anticipated Loan Collection book and over 200 selected general collection images will be published in the Showcase book by Marathon Press.

The Yakima Valley Museum Receives State Exhibit Excellence Award

promotion. This exhibit uses the themes of community, family, and tradition to tell the story of the Japanese Americans in the Yakima Valley. The museum went beyond textbooks and documentaries, seeking out personal histories and artifacts concerning the community's past and present. Not only is it a significant contribution to the understanding of a community; it also enhances the rich history of Washington State. In creating it, the Yakima Valley Museum has set an elevated standard for all heritage organizations throughout Washington State.

On the morning of June 16 at the meeting of the Washington Museum Association (WMA) in Walla Walla, Washington, the Yakima Valley Museum was presented with the WMA's Award of Exhibit Excellence for the exhibit Land of Joy and Sorrow: Japanese Pioneers in the Yakima Valley. Representatives from the museum were there to receive the award: David Lynx, Associate Director; Andy Granitto, Curator of Exhibits; Mike Siebol, Curator of Collections; and Peg Granitto, Exhibit Technician. The award reads as follows:
The Washington Museum Association recognizes the exhibit Land of Joy and Sorrow: Japanese Pioneers in the Yakima Valley, produced by the Yakima Valley Museum, for establishing a high standard of innovation and creativity in all phases of exhibit concept, research, content, design, production, and

Two Argus Agents Honored By Safeco® Insurance

Argus Insurance Vice President of Operations, Brian Roberts, CIC and Personal Accounts Agent, Carol Case, CIC, CPIW, ACSR, have each been honored with the AWARD OF EXCELLENCE from Safeco Insurance. This award is only given to 2% of all Safeco agents in the country, and recognizes insurance professionals who have developed a strong partnership with the Safeco company and who demonstrate superior underwriting skills.

Roberts and Case are the only agents in Central Washington to be selected by Safeco to receive this recognition. The AWARD OF EXCELLENCE is a demonstration of the highest skill level of customer service by agents according to Safeco Insurance. Argus has been in Yakima since 1913 It remains locally owned, and provides risk management services to individuals and businesses throughout Central Washington.

Tieton Farm and Creamery Poised for More Growth

Lori Babcock is excited about the future. As co-owner of Tieton Farm and Creamery she is seeing her hard work pay off and feels the business is primed to double or triple sales of its gourmet goat cheeses. Babcock was the speaker this month at the Yakima Chamber's Entrepreneurial Spotlight, a monthly series promoting new businesses in the region. Lori told the audience that getting the business established has been full of trials and tribulations. At the same time though it is very obvious that Lori and her partner Ruth absolutely love what they are doing.

Tieton Farm and Creamery got started when Lori and Ruth got interested in farming and concerned about their job security at a financial software company. After running a small farming operation in Bellevue, the ladies decided to bite the bullet and produce gourmet cheese. Lori said they initially looked for farm sites in Western Washington before being drawn to Tieton by Ed Marquand and the Mighty Tieton group.

Lori indicated that their focus on branding and marketing helped the company get off to a successful start. She purposely positioned their product at the high end of the marketplace, explaining that they could not compete successfully on price vis a vis other larger competitors. Putting an emphasis on quality and sustainable farming practices has helped Tieton Farm and Creamery develop a loyal consumer following.

Babcock indicated there are two areas where entrepreneurs and start up businesses need to be careful. Properly capitalizing a business is absolutely critical.

David McFadden
President & CEO of Yakima County Development
Association (YCDA)

Credit markets are difficult to access for new firms so it is important to have enough capital to feed the business. Lori said this was a difficult lesson for Tieton Farm and Creamery. She put a lot of work into getting a loan before realizing that banks would not fund her proposals. The company did get funding from Wheatland Bank to start the creamery, but the ladies had to postpone their dream of building a bed and breakfast at the farm.

Lori also told the group to be careful with time estimates. She and Ruth underestimated how much work was involved in starting the business and how long it would take to launch Tieton Farm and Creamery.

It is great to see Tieton Farm and Creamery doing well. Their gourmet cheeses are outstanding and the company is a great addition to the Yakima Valley. You can purchase their cheeses at the Deep Sea Deli in Yakima. The ladies also sell their products at local farmers' markets. To learn more about Tieton Farm and Creamery visit their website www.tieton-farmandcreamery.com

Next month's Entrepreneur Spotlight will feature Jeff Winn from Yakima Craft Brewing. Visit www.yakima.org to learn about and register for this event.
