MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Joe Mann

Chair of the Board of Directors

Hello Yakima Valley Business community, I am Joe Mann. I was born and raised in the Yakima Valley and have loved all the years spent in this great area. I am married to my beautiful wife Kathy (Brusic) and we have two great children John-Paul (22) and Emily (19). I have owned and operated Ron's Coin and Collectibles since the late 1980's and have been working there since 1975. During this time I have had the opportunity to experience all the different changes and developments that the valley has gone through.

One of the most exciting events I've had the pleasure of being a part of was the 65th All-America City Event in Denver. To represent our city was truly an honor. I got to spend four days with people from some of the most innovative cities in the U.S., during which time we discussed problems faced by these communities and their solutions. Seeing how these communities have gone about solving these tough issues was truly amazing and idea fueling. Also, to sit and review with the representatives of these successful cities and recognize that they, too, have faced some of the same hardships and concerns that our community is dealing with was comforting and reassuring. Being able to see the visions that they have for the future reminds me that our community will continue to come together to make this valley a stronger place to live. This civic pride bonds the community together to work toward heightened goals that will benefit all of us as a whole. The delegation was comprised of 30+ people from Yakima who assembled to work on the application and then travel to Denver to present Yakima as a finalist. This team bonded strongly and can now work to inspire and assist others to better understand and solve the future challenges that may face our community. A great big thank you goes out to all those who were involved and especially to the Yakima Valley as a whole for having the drive and passion to continue to improve the valley.

In closing, I personally would like to thank the Chamber Board of Directors for having the trust and confidence in me. All the past board members and chairs should know I will be calling on your help. We need to build a strong alliance in order to work as a team on continuing into the future. Speaking of the future, congratulations to all the graduates of the Leadership Yakima Class of 2014. This class of 21 leaders now joins 28 years of Yakima Chamber of Commerce guided leaders in our community.

Thank you all and let's work together continue to make Yakima the best it truly can be.

PRESIDENTS REPORT

Verlynn Best
President & CEO

As I was driving down Yakima Avenue and observing how far we have come with our beautification project, I glanced up and saw “Old Glory” waving on top of the Larson Building. I paused a moment to think about this election cycle, the candidates, and what people mean when they say “No New Taxes!”. We need the kind of leadership that prospers us as a people, community and nation! Your vote matters - make it an educated one!

Please attend our Government Committee meetings which are held the fourth Tuesday of every month at noon at the Greater Yakima Chamber of Commerce. This is an opportunity to listen and learn about the candidates. Our commitment to you as a Chamber member is to educate, inform, and help you make election decisions that are sound for both business and our community!

LEADERSHIP YAKIMA

Kristi Foster
Leadership Yakima Director

Leadership Yakima graduated 21 new individuals on June 18th. Although these participants come from a vast range of industry and backgrounds, one common theme shone through...the yearning to continue leading this community in great ways. Beginning with the Retreat at Lost Creek Village where we learned from some of the original leaders of our Valley, we were continually moved and motivated to make a difference in this place we call home.

Whether born and raised in the valley, or recently moved to the area, the knowledge gained throughout this year has been unsurpassed. Some of the stops along our journey this year included a "behind the scenes look" at Pacific Northwest University, The Superior Courthouse, Wapato Buddhist Temple, Tieton Cider Works, Bale Breaker Brewing Company, Yakima Specialties, Yakima Herald Republic, Yakima Valley Skills Center, Children's Village, North Star Lodge and many, many more. In addition to the tours, we were also compelled to action by the various non-profits that spoke of the ways our community has come together to support our neighbors. Children's Wishes and Dreams, Camp Prime Time, Wellness House, Habitat for Humanity, Y W C A , Pegasus Project the list goes on and on.

The Leadership Yakima Committee has already started looking ahead at next year's class. We are actively recruiting Leadership Yakima Alumni for open committee positions, as well as nominations for next year's class. With anticipation, we look forward to meeting the new leaders who will have an opportunity to join the prestigious Leadership Yakima alumni group. Is it you? Please contact me at 509-945-5655 if you are interested in participating in Leadership Yakima, or serving on our committee.

NEW START

NEW START – Shining a Light on the Long Term Unemployed

Most of us have a friend or family member who is looking for work. A layoff can happen to anyone. In the past, a short stint into unemployment was of no great concern as there was usually a better job just around the corner. But lately, there has been a change in the dynamics of the workforce, both nationally and at the local level. The unemployed are finding it harder to find comparable work and it's taking longer...much longer.

According to the Employment Security Department, there are over 8,000 individuals in the South Central Workforce region, which covers the area from Ellensburg to White Salmon, who are now considered Long Term Unemployed (LTU). These are individuals who have been out of work for more than 27 weeks and nearly half have exhausted their unemployment benefits. Why are these individuals unemployed for such a long period of time?

The perception might be that they are not interested in working. But workforce professionals will tell you that nothing is further from the truth. This is something different and it started with the Great Recession.

As highlighted by "60 Minutes" in February 2012, they come from all demographics. They are educated professionals, skilled trade workers, business leaders and dedicated staff. They come from diverse backgrounds and have years of experience. It has been a long time since they have had to look for work so their job hunting skills may be a bit rusty... especially in this electronic era. But they are determined to find a way back anyway they can.

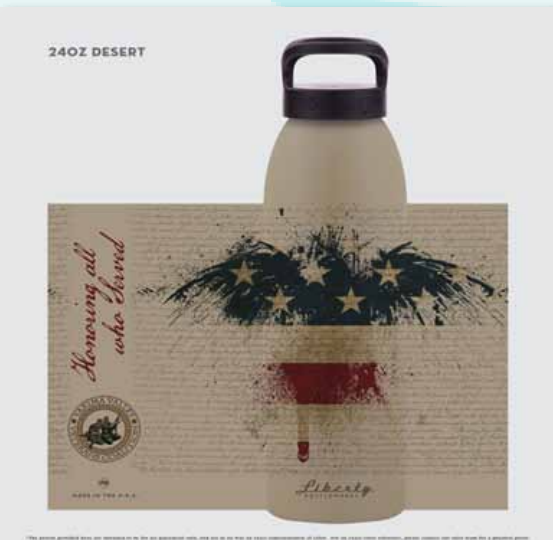

To help bridge the gap between these qualified job seekers and employers who are largely unaware of this resource, the South Central Workforce Development Council has been awarded part of a federal grant for a community initiative called "NEW START".

While an intensive job assistance program is a key component, the council also wants to expand partnerships with employers who will provide insight and mentorship and assist us in innovative ways to help the long term unemployed re-enter the workforce. To bring greater awareness to this issue in the weeks to come, we will be organizing formal presentations and informal roundtable discussions to business associations throughout the region.

The desire to work and contribute to our community is strong for those considered long term unemployed. If you are an employer and wish to be a part of the solution, please contact Lori Edwards-Olson at the South Central Workforce Development Council, 509-574-1948, lori.olson@co.yakima.wa.us, or visit our website at www.quality4hire.com for more information. Meanwhile, stay tuned for more information on this very important community initiative.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Congratulations to Linda Johnson on being named to the Washington Small Business Development Center Million Dollar Club at the recent spring professional development conference.

The Million Dollar Club was created to recognize those SBDC advisors who help their clients secure more than $1 million annually in debt or equity funding. In fact, Linda's clients credit her with helping them secure more than $3.3 million in 2013, raising her SBDC lifetime capital acquisition total to more than $13 million!

In today's economic climate, it can take weeks, months or even years to for a small business owner to get the funding he or she needs to start or grow a business, and she has been commended for her efforts on behalf of her clients.

In 2013, Linda established or continued an advising relationship with more than 66 small business owners in and around Yakima, helping them face myriad challenges including cash flow management; market research; financial statement analysis; business plans; marketing; cost-cutting strategies and much more.

Those clients credited her with helping them create or save more than 18 jobs, each of which has a ripple effect that contributes to the economic vitality of the Yakima Valley.

Advising services are available by appointment. Call 509.454.7612 to see how SBDC can help you and your business grow.

YVFWC HIRES SENIOR DIRECTOR OF COMPLIANCE WITH HISTORY IN AREA

Yakima Valley Farm Workers Clinic is pleased to announce the hire of Peter Spratt, Senior Director of Compliance and Legal Advisor.

Mr. Spratt is a native of Grandview,

Washington, where his father was a well-known physician and his mother was a registered medical technologist and later a Licensed Practical Nurse. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon, Seattle University School of Law and the New York University School of Law.

He has an extensive background as an attorney including corporate compliance, tax planning, corporate law, and as a professor of law. He is a member of the Washington State Bar Association, the Oregon State Bar Association, and is admitted to practice in Washington, Oregon and before the United States Tax Court.

Yakima Athletic Club's fitness director, TANNER DEAN, scored several awards at the Seattle Summer Classic event of U.S. Power Lifting, held in Lynnwood, WA, on June 14th.

Dean took 1st place in the 165lb division, setting a new state record for the bench press and for total combined scores. In addition, he won the award for "Best Lift".

Tanner Dean has been employed by the Yakima Athletic Club for 17 years, and has been the Fitness Director for both Yakima Athletic Club and Y-A-C Fitness (Terrace Heights) for the last four years.

The Yakima Athletic Club is a privately owned membership-based fitness facility. It has been "getting more people, more active, more often" for over 35 years.

MEMBER PROFILE

In September 2005, a new business opened in Yakima. Bonnie Carter opened A La Mode Boutique and Spa, a gift boutique that also offered massage services. At that time, the team consisted of Bonnie and one massage therapist. Within a few months of opening, an Aveda representative came to Yakima and asked if Bonnie would bring the Aveda products and services to Yakima. She said yes! Today the name has changed to A La Mode Spa and Salon and is now a full service Aveda spa and salon offering everything from massages, facials, waxing, manicures and pedicures, to a full service hair salon and gift boutique. The team has also grown to employ 21 amazing people.

Bonnie believes in providing the best services and experiences possible to her guests and is without question, the most important part of her business. But she also believes that there is a responsibility to help those in need. With the full support of her team, every April, A La Mode Spa and Salon has raised money for clean water. This past April, they raised $8950.00!

Providing clean water is a passion of Bonnies as water is our most basic human need. Bonnie has been to Africa three times. The last two years she traveled with Aid Africa to northern Uganda where she helped dig wells and repair bore holes. "It is so amazing to see the villagers faces as they watch clean water flowing from the pump after a successful well project". Bonnie and her A La Mode team are committed to this ongoing project. "It's a beautiful thing when likeminded individuals can get together and do something wonderful to benefit those in need. My advice is to just say "yes" to opportunity. An opportunity to help others and to grow and become a better version of yourself!"

Memorial: Reducing risk, improving health

Patients of Memorial Family of Services are benefitting from new technology that reduces radiation exposure when undergoing a CT scan.

Memorial is among the early adopters of this technology, as health care providers across the country seek ways to reduce radiation dose and improve patient safety. As a result, the Washington State Hospital Association has tapped Memorial as one of six hospitals to share success stories about reducing radiation dose for patients.

“Installing SafeCT software has allowed us to reduce dose more than 50 percent without sacrificing image quality,” said Dr. William Feldmann, radiologist at Yakima Valley Radiology. “Memorial embraced low-dose imaging prior to state regulatory involvement because it is best for the patient. And with SafeCT, we’re able to exceed – by far – the state guidelines for patient radiation exposure.”

About 60 million CT scans are performed in the United States each year. CT scans quickly and effectively diagnose problems of the head, spine, chest and abdomen. The tests allow physicians to make timely and accurate diagnoses that save lives, but they have raised concerns in recent years about repeated or prolonged exposure to radiation for patients.

Everyone is exposed to radiation naturally in daily life, primarily from cosmic radiation and radon gas. One CT scan is equivalent to one to three years of natural background radiation. CT scans account for half of all medical radiation exposure, and while the risks are very low, physicians, hospitals and engineers are continually striving to lower radiation dose and risk.

States across the country, including Washington, are looking at instituting regulations governing radiation exposure for patients. In the meantime, the Washington State Hospital Association is working with hospitals statewide to try to develop best practices in dose reduction, among other areas.

In August, Memorial adopted new software technology that allows for dose to be reduced during a CT scan, while still achieving a usable image for a radiologist. The benefits to patients are three-fold: improved technology without a cost increase to the patient, higher quality images for the radiologist to read, and a radiation dose reduction of up to 60 percent when compared to exams done a year earlier.

“Knowing that my patients, particularly those that require repeated scans, are being exposed to less radiation gives me peace of mind,” said Dr. Sean Cleary, a radiation oncologist at North Star Lodge. “Reducing the health risks to our patients is paramount.”

Memorial isn’t stopping with the latest in CT technology. Memorial recently installed a new, $2 million 3 Tesla MRI scanner, allowing patients to avoid traveling to Seattle, Spokane or the Tri-Cities for a high-field strength MRI. This next generation MRI enhances image detail and quality, improving care and service for our patients.

Healthy Yakima.

Yakima Valley Trolleys "In Kind" Donation Update

In the last issue of the "Action Report" we described our local "In Kind" business donors who contributed labor and/or materials which resulted in; Akland Pump and Irrigation restoring main line water service to our 114 year old Trolley Car Barn and Cascade Natural Gas installing new gas service to our 113 year old Trolley Powerhouse. These contributions will allow our under funded 501 (c) 3 organization to move forward with installing a HVAC system in the Powerhouse and providing a functional volunteer bathroom in the Car Barn as we work to restore and expand this world class tourist attraction. Our own volunteers are currently completing the Car Barn bathroom plumbing and painting bathroom walls.

John Stainsby, manager of RSD, made his "In Kind" contribution by offering a very significant discount on major HVAC equipment needed to provide gas heat and A/C in the Powerhouse. Completion of this project will allow us to rent the Powerhouse for special occasions which will include a ride on one of our circa 1928 electric trolleys.

Although we were not in need of the uniform and laundry services, Cintas supplied the labor of company employees. On June 17th, four Cintas employees spent the day removing trees, vines and weeds which had overgrown a potential storage area. We are now searching for heavy duty shelving for placement in the cleaned area. When this project is completed, rails, heavy rail parts, ties, etc. that are now scattered around the rail yard will be organized and fork lifted onto the shelving. Our goal here is to provide an uncluttered rail yard which will enable visitors to safely view the vintage rolling stock parked there.

We were faced with the need to purchase a tow behind generator car which powers the trolley on lines where thieves have stolen copper trolley wire and we were unable to come up with the $30,000 for the purchase. Issaquah Trolley made an "In Kind" contribution and sold Yakima Valley Trolleys a quality used generator for $800.00!

Our volunteers are currently mounting the unit on our small tow behind cart which will enable us to offer the Selah round trip trolley ride. Eagle Machine provided $850.00 in labor and material needed to construct a custom engine to generator adaptor used on a tow behind generator.

Toppenish Railroad Museum provided expertise and labor as they helped our volunteers replace a damaged rail on a Yakima city street. Their volunteers have helped Yakima Valley Trolleys many times in the past.

Thank you to all of these organizations which were able to assist us as we work toward expanding vintage trolley service into the downtown core. Connecting the Convention Center (and surrounding hotels) to the proposed plaza, downtown wineries, our Historic District, our Electric Rail Museum, and Selah will improve our quality of life and dramatically increase tourism. While showcasing an important part of our heritage, these vehicles will allow us to set us apart from other Eastern Washington competing for the millions of tourism dollars passing by Yakima every week. Any "In Kind" help you may be able to provide is greatly appreciated!

Recycle Your Company Fridge

Pacific Power's popular "See Ya Later, Refrigerator®" recycling program is now available for business customers with working residential refrigerators or freezers.

With this program, Pacific Power will pick up your old refrigerator or freezer, properly recycle it and give you $30. Besides saving your business money, recycling your old fridge keeps it out of the landfill.

Schedule your free pickup by calling toll free at 1-866-899-5539 or visit bewattsmart.com.

Refrigerators or freezers must be in working condition, a minimum of 10 cubic feet and a maximum of 32 cubic feet in size (based on inside measurements) to qualify.
