PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Verlynn Best
President & CEO

We, the Greater Yakima Chamber of Commerce, would like to thank our Yakima Valley businesses and supporters once again for an outstanding turnout for our incoming Leadership Yakima class of 2016-2017. With the inclusion of this class, Leadership Yakima is celebrating 30 years! A special shout out to Yakima Valley Memorial Hospital; John I. Haas, INC.; and Tree Top for your continued support. Your businesses are the definition of leadership in our community and the Greater Yakima Chamber of Commerce is proud to have you as partners in this program.

As we raise up current and future leaders in our community, the first thing we learn is that there is no "I" in team. We all have a shared responsibility in setting the tone for the future of our community and the first steps in our partnerships is that we collaborate and share in the mission that gives us the greatest outcome for our community!

Please join us in welcoming the Leadership Yakima 2016-2017 Class - we wish you well!

MESSAGE from the CHAIR

Rich Austin
Chair of the Board

Fall is here! To some, it means the start of school. To many others, it is a new Seahawks season. But to me, fall means one thing: a new year of Leadership Yakima. Offered by the Yakima Chamber Foundation, Leadership Yakima works to strengthen and educate community leaders by providing participants with in-depth insights into a wide variety of issues impacting Yakima Valley residents. The program is designed to teach current and emerging leaders the necessary skills to be able to serve our diverse community, and provides them with an opportunity to discover many different organizations and agencies that need volunteers and board members.

Leadership Yakima was established in 1986 by the late-Gary Webster, Mel Wagner, Bob Hall, and Ron King. The first class had 29 members, and 730 participants have graduated from the program in its 30-year history.

I first heard about LY in 2000. I read an article about graduation and started to look into the program. After receiving glowing reports from several friends and colleagues, I applied and was accepted into the Leadership Yakima Class of 2001.

Each class member is required to attend a two-day retreat in September. At first I wasn't very excited about the prospect of "camping out" with a group of strangers. But after that weekend at Camp Dudley (the current home of the retreat is Lost Creek Village), my mind was changed. We had great speakers and learned so much about the Valley, and I had the chance to make new friends. The retreat ended up being one of the best parts of LY, a sentiment that is often voiced by new graduates.

The retreat is followed by nine monthly sessions. Each session has a leader and a theme, such as Education, Health Care and Business Climate. Participants will hear from a variety of speakers and take tours of businesses and organizations associated with that month's theme. After a final session in June, the class is celebrated at a graduation ceremony.

Leadership Yakima Class of 2017

In addition, each class member is placed into one of four groups for their community action project. Each group has to come up with a project idea, complete with budget and outline, that will benefit the community. The project is to be completed by the end of the class, and is highlighted at graduation.

Over the years, countless Leadership Yakima graduates have taken board positions and become community leaders. One LY graduate is a Yakima County Commissioner, two graduates currently sit on the Yakima City Council, and some have been honored with the prestigious Ted Robertson Community Service Award. But just as important, all of the graduates have become more connected to their community.

The best recommendation you can get about the value of Leadership Yakima is to ask anyone that has been in the program. Usually you'll get memories of their classmates, the friends they made, recollections of tiring, yet educational session days, what their project did for the community, and about the knowledge they gained from all the session leaders and presenters.

Joining Leadership Yakima is one of the best professional decisions I have ever made. I am from the Yakima Valley, and thought I was aware of what our community had to offer. But the year I spent in LY really opened my eyes to the many wonderful organizations, businesses and people that make up our Valley. I was the Class Representative, and liked the experience so much I asked to be on the Executive Committee. I have served on the committee many times since then (off and on) and have been the chair and co-chair.

Currently Kristi Foster is the Director of Leadership Yakima, and has worked very hard to evolve the curriculum, making changes and updates as needed. She and her committee spend countless hours working on the program. Every committee member is a graduate and has a love of Leadership Yakima.

The LY Class of 2017 has 27 members, the largest group since 2008, and just started in September. All of the classes are special, but there is something about this group. I can't wait to see them at the end of year.

If you are interested in Leadership Yakima, contact the Chamber at 248-2021.

MEMORIAL

Erin Black
CEO, The Memorial Foundation

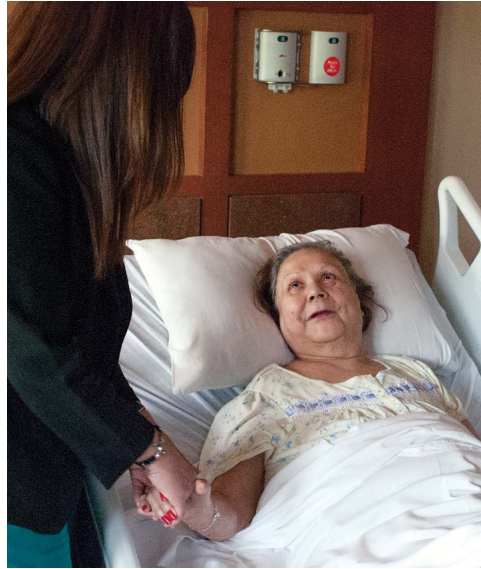

As The Memorial Foundation CEO, I have the wonderful opportunity to assist in mobilizing and energizing community support to sustain local health-care initiatives and improve access to care.

Learning to be proactive about our health is working wonders in areas of fitness, nutrition, prevention, and chronic-disease management. We are all more than eager to talk about our fitness plans, healthy recipes, and family fun activities.

In the past few years we, as a community, have also been talking more and more about “the difficult to discuss” health subjects. Some people put off talking about their wishes and health-care priorities until they get sick. But, help is there even before you think you need it!

Memorial’s Compass Care initiative is a spectrum of support services to give patients, families, and health-care providers more options for care and treatment.

Compass Care can help you and your family with an extra layer of support if you are diagnosed with a serious illness. Palliative care doctors, nurses, and social workers work side-by-side with your existing medical team to help you as you treat your illness.

Hospice is a program of care and support to help you live your best life as comfortably as possible if you are diagnosed with a terminal illness. Hospice comes to you, wherever you live.

And, when home care isn’t an option, everyone deserves peace, privacy and their loved ones by their side. Cottage in the Meadow provides just that for hospice patients needing inpatient care. The Cottage is a peaceful, home-like, 24-hour inpatient option to hospital care for patients and their families.

Through generous community support, Cottage in the Meadow opened four years ago. The need for the nurturing, supportive environment of the Cottage at the end of life has resulted in plans for an expansion from 12 to 20 private patient suites. We expect to offer the new rooms in the fall of 2017.

Through your support, there is an opportunity to help even more patients nearing the end of their life’s journey pass with dignity and peace. We would love to tell you more about Compass Care and Cottage in the Meadow. Contact The Memorial Foundation to see how you can be involved! (509) 576-5794 or memfound.org

CHAMBER COMMITTEE

Kate Gottlieb, Yakima Valley Memorial Hospital
Dr. Yami Cazorla-Lancaster, Nourish Wellness
Committee Chairs

The vision of the Yakima Health and Wellbeing Coalition is: To become the healthiest city in the nation.

Realizing this vision will require optimizing not only our nutrition and physical activity, but all aspects of our lives including our environment and social networks.

Our mission is to foster the physical and emotional wellbeing of the citizens of Yakima through the synergy of Yakima’s largest employers, small business owners, passionate citizens, and the city’s stakeholders. We will work together to apply the principles of the Blue Zones to our community so that we may create a valley that is rich in health, longevity and joy.

A blue zone is a geographic area where an unusually high percentage of its people live long, healthy, and joyful lives, often past 100 years. But living longer isn’t a deliberate act: their longevity and well-being are products of their environment, an environment that fosters healthy living as a default. A blue zone has several characteristics that make it unique. A healthy, predominantly plant-based diet, a high amount of natural movement (otherwise known as purposeful movement), a sense of individual purpose, a sense of community and belonging, meaningful connections, family involvement, and ways to relax and de-stress that are embedded in the culture.

There are many areas around the world that are naturally blue zones because of the climate, topography, culture, and available foods; however, it has been shown that populations can “blue zone” their own community. And a great way to promote healthy living is by changing the environment around a community, making it the DEFAULT choice.

In order to accomplish this, the places where we live, work, learn and play must unite and align their vision and goals to promote health and wellbeing for the ultimate prize of not just adding more YEARS to our lives, but more LIFE to our years. A life where there is the opportunity to experience the joy and pleasure of physical, mental, emotional and social wellbeing.

The Blue Zones Project® is a cornerstone of how we will reach Yakima’s goal. A community-driven well-being improvement initiative, this effort will help our community remove barriers and make positive changes to our environment, policies and social networks that will reap powerful benefits, including longer, healthier, and more productive lives for our citizens.

So let’s return to our vision: To become the healthiest city in America.

This may sound like a lofty and idealistic goal. Instead of thinking “this will never work in this town”, I want you to imagine: What if it does? What if it is possible? If you have a little spark in your heart that ignites when you imagine this possibility, please join us in the Yakima Health and Wellbeing Coalition as we work together to blue zone our community and make Yakima the healthiest city in America.

Coalition meetings are the third Wednesday of the month at noon – Next Jan. 18th

Washington ESGR Breakfast with the Boss Honors Supportive Employers

YAKIMA, Wash. – YAKIMA, Wash. – The Greater Yakima Valley Chamber of Commerce and volunteers from the Washington Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) volunteers gathered in Yakima at an ESGR sponsored Breakfast with the Boss event. ESGR’s Breakfast with the Boss brings together employers, unit commanders, ESGR volunteers and community leaders to discuss issues related to service in the Guard and Reserve.

The ESGR volunteers presented a briefing on the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA), which is the federal law that prohibits discriminatory, punitive or unlawful action against any member of the Guard or Reserve because of their performance of uniformed military service.

The event also recognized local employers who have gone above and beyond to support those who serve in the Guard and Reserve. The Greater Yakima Chamber of Commerce was presented with the Seven Seals award.

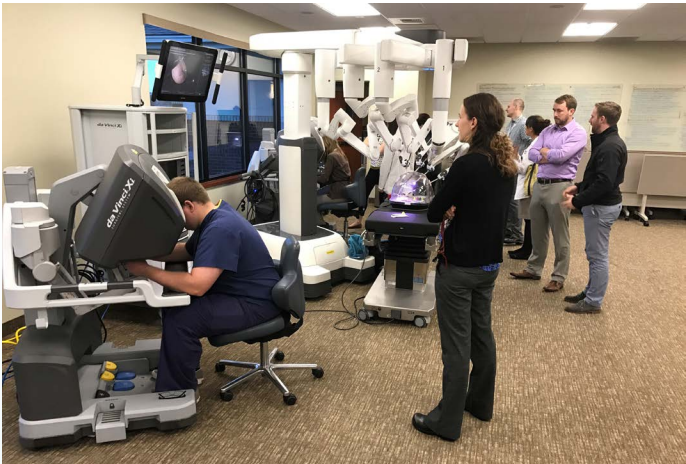

The Seven Seals Award is presented in recognition of significant individual or organizational achievement, initiative, or support that promotes and supports the ESGR mission, to include the efforts of the more than 4,500 volunteers who carry out ESGR’s mission across the Nation on a daily basis. “The Greater Yakima Chamber of Commerce has gone above and beyond to support the military efforts in the Yakima Valley, whether it’s Active Duty, Veterans, or Guard and Reserve,” said Mary Miller, the Area Chair for the West Central Committee for the Washington ESGR. “They have shared their time and space to accommodate events and announcements. The Greater Yakima Chamber of Commerce has partnered with the community in sponsoring the Job Fair and Veteran’s Stand Down which serves a large military community.”

Also recognized for their support of those who serve in the reserve components was the Yakima Police Department, Brumback Law Group, and Baxter Construction who were nominated for a Freedom Award. The Freedom Award is the highest recognition given by the U.S. Government to employers for their outstanding support of employees serving in the Guard and Reserve. Each year, Guard and Reserve employees, or a family member acting on their behalf, have the opportunity to nominate their employer for the Employer Support Freedom Award. “It is the existence of civilian employment such as those recognized today that enables many to remain an active and integral part of the critical strategic role played by today’s Guard and Reserve,” Miller stated.

ESGR, a Department of Defense program, seeks to foster a culture in which all employers support and value the employment and military service of members of the National Guard and Reserve in the United States. For more information about ESGR outreach programs or volunteer opportunities, call (800) 336-4590 or visit www.ESGR.mil.

Surgical Robots Invade Pacific Northwest University Campus

Dozens of PNWU medical students were captivated during a presentation by Yakima physician Jason Cundiff, MD, as he talked about his experience with the da Vinci surgical robotics system.

Dr. Cundiff played a major role in bringing the robotics system to the campus of Pacific Northwest University. He is one of the top users of the robotics system in the west and told students he has completed nearly 1,300 procedures with the equipment over the last 4 ½ years.

Dr. Cundiff worked with PNWU student Seth J. Minton, OMS II, to help make arrangements for the demonstrations in front of his fellow students possible. More than 50 medical students enjoyed watching and experimenting with the highly technical equipment, along with local physicians and others in the community who stopped into the University Conference Center to see the equipment owned by the company Intuitive. In fact, students had a chance to compete for prizes for the best performance of simple tasks such as suturing a wound on a synthetic demonstration object. The equipment was set up in the PNWU University Conference Center for much of the afternoon and early evening hours so as many as possible could view the FDA-approved surgical robots. Future doctors were having fun both manipulating the controls on the Da Vinci console and watching the monitors while their classmates did the same.

Minton, president of the Student Osteopathic Surgical Association (S.O.S.A.) club on campus said, “This is very exciting opportunity for all of us. We are getting to see and touch something that some of us hope to work with in the future.”

Dr. Cundiff wanted to share part of what the future holds for those currently attending medical school. “I got trained on this equipment within the first couple of months of its arrival in Yakima and I love it.”

As Dr. Cundiff showed the students slides and videos from several of his operations with Da Vinci equipment he said, “It has well-demonstrated benefits. I am a strong believer that it does make a good surgeon better when he is committed to it.”

When asked how a surgeon in a relatively small town in central Washington has become one of the busiest robotics surgeon in the entire western part of the country Dr. Cundiff said, “It (Yakima) has just the right amount of trauma here that allows me the volume of surgery to stay proficient without overwhelming my practice. It is just the right mix of opportunity for me.”

Dr. Cundiff was excited to be on campus and show off the equipment. He uses it often and also loves to teach students on a regular basis as a preceptor for PNWU’s College of Osteopathic medicine students.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Brett N. Goodman

Halverson Northwest Law Group is pleased to announce that Brett Goodman has joined the firm as an Associate Attorney. Brett was born and raised in Yakima, WA, graduating from West Valley High School. Brett received his undergraduate degree in Psychology from Western Washington University, and his law degree from the University of Idaho. While attending the University of Idaho, he was a member of the D. Craig Lewis Trial Team which competed in regional and national trial competitions. Brett has a strong passion for helping clients who have been wronged, be it in business matters or everyday life. Brett's practice focuses on civil litigation; specifically, aiding businesses and private individuals navigate complex issues that can arise during a law suit. Brett enjoys outdoor activities, including running, hiking, and camping, but mostly enjoys spending quality time with family and friends

Be Prepared for Stormy Weather

Before the storm season hits, Pacific Power prepares equipment and crews so they can get power back on as quickly and safely as possible if there's an outage. Make sure your business is ready in case of an unexpected power outage.

Tips to help you prepare

- Mark the location of electrical supply panels and note how to turn off power.
- Label equipment power switches to find them more easily during an outage.
- Plug computers into surge protectors and install automatic backup programs.
- If you use a cash register, have a calculator or non-electrical option on hand.
- Consider buying and installing a backup generator for critical equipment.
- Keep emergency lighting in working order.
- Put together an outage kit with flashlights, radios, food and water.

What to do in an outage

facebook.com/pacificpower for large or extended outage updates.

Getting your power back
Pacific Power restores power to hospitals, police and fire departments first. Next crews repair transmission and distribution lines to get power on for the majority of customers. Then repairs are made to energize individual homes and businesses.
