Mission Statement: "The Greater Yakima Chamber of Commerce is an organization that promotes pride in our diverse communities through positive, active leadership aimed at creating a cohesive, successful business climate in our County."

Virginia Mason Memorial cancer care receives national commendations

The Commission on Cancer (CoC), a quality program of the American College of Surgeons, has granted Three-Year Accreditation with Commendation to the cancer program at Virginia Mason Memorial. To earn CoC accreditation, a cancer program must meet or exceed the CoC quality care standards, be evaluated every three years and maintain levels of excellence in the delivery of comprehensive patient-centered care. Three-Year Accreditation with Commendation is awarded only to a facility that exceeds these requirements.

Because it is a CoC-accredited cancer center, Virginia Mason Memorial takes a multidisciplinary approach to treating cancer as a complex group of diseases that requires consultation among surgeons, medical and radiation oncologists, diagnostic radiologists, pathologists, and other cancer specialists. This multidisciplinary partnership results in improved patient care.

“We are very proud to release our recent Commission on Cancer survey results to our community,” said Tricia Sinek, senior director of the Oncology Service Line at Virginia Mason Memorial. “In over 25 years of working in Oncology Care, this is the most exciting result I’ve seen from a Commission on Cancer survey. We passed this test with flying colors—receiving five out of a possible seven commendations for going above and beyond even the toughest requirements.”

The Commission on Cancer reviews every part of the cancer program—from the accuracy of each diagnosis, to assuring patients are treated according to the most up-to-date recommendations for surgery, radiation and chemotherapy. These results are measured against the national standards, and the skill and expertise of the entire cancer care team are reviewed.

Yakima is fortunate to have this top-quality cancer program right here in our community. Our entire team is committed to delivering great care—whether at North Star Lodge, Virginia Mason Memorial hospital, `Ohana Mammography Center, in primary care, or through services at Cottage in the Meadow. “We have excellent doctors, nurses and nurse navigators, physicists, dietitians, social workers, genetic counselors, research staff, a financial assistance team for patients, volunteers, referral specialists, a cancer registry team, pharmacists, environmental services staff and leaders,” said Sinek.

“The Commission on Cancer results validate the hard work and engagement of Virginia Mason Memorial’s entire team. No one wants to have to face a cancer diagnosis—but if you have cancer, you are in excellent hands here at Virginia Mason Memorial.”

Healthy Yakima.

VICE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Thane Phelan
Vice President
thane@yakima.org

2017 has been an immensely productive year for the Greater Yakima Chamber of Commerce because of your investment, volunteerism, and commitment to the improvement of the Yakima Valley.

Leadership Yakima has been and continues to be a vital and highly rated program among our members. With one of the biggest classes in many years, the Class of 2017 added 26 more to the alumni list and brought the total graduates to 756 since the program began in 1986. If you look through that list, it is a veritable who's who of community organizers, elected officials, board members, and volunteers who have fueled the growth and improvement of the programs and projects that make the Yakima Valley a better place to live.

The 2017 Veteran, Dependents, and Graduates Job Fair is another program

Leadership Yakima Class of 2017

I'm very proud of. This past year was our 4th Annual Job Fair that continues to grow with great leadership from our Veteran and Military Affairs Committee (VMAC). Since taking over this event from the State of Washington, each year we've provided hundreds of veterans' access to better higher paying jobs. Based on our involvement and support of many veteran programs in the Yakima Valley, the Greater Yakima Chamber was honored with the "Seven Seals" and the national "Above and Beyond" awards at the Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) statewide dinner in May. Your Chamber has become a model for Veteran organizations to use as an example across the nation to get Chambers involved in veteran and military programs.

2017 will also be credited with the most attended monthly Chamber luncheon in our 124-year history. The "Blue Zones" luncheon in May. We were fortunate to have recruited Dr. Yami Lancaster of Nourish Wellness and Kate Gottlieb of Virginia Mason Memorial to chair what has become our biggest and most attended Chamber Committee. The Yakima Health and Wellbeing Coalition's primary mission is to lead their dream of making Yakima a "Blue Zone". The Blue Zone fundamentals were presented in Dan Buetner's book "The Blue Zones Solution". It examined the eating habits and lifestyle practices of the communities he's identified as "Blue Zones", those places with the world's longest-lived, and thus healthiest people, based on his 10 years of research funded by National Geographic.

Our first step was to bring Blue Zones representatives to Yakima to present at the luncheon and see if Yakima was interested in making the changes identified in the research, which could put us on the road to making Yakima, Washington state's first "Blue Zone"! Our question was answered with almost 400 attendees and sponsorships from a vast amount of health and community organizations that made it happen, including our presenting sponsor, SOZO Sports of Central Washington.

A Blue Zones project here in the Yakima Valley could ignite fundamental change for the future economic, health, and happiness of our children and grandchildren. I'm very pleased at the support for the luncheon and more recently, contributions that will take us to the next step of a community assessment by the organization that will oversee the Blue Zones project. We recently announced that we had reached our goal of $25,000 to fund the assessment phase of the project which may happen later this year. If you'd like to join the movement, the Yakima Health and Wellbeing Coalition meetings are the 4th Wednesday of every month at noon, here at the Chamber.

Finally, all of us here at the Chamber are deeply saddened by the passing of our President, Verlynn Best's husband Chuck Buttrey. We're glad Verlynn has returned and know she'll be back up to speed with her usual vigor and positive leadership for the community soon.

Rich Austin
Chair of the Board

What is the best thing about the Yakima Valley?

Is it the four seasons (including warm weather in the late spring, summer and early fall)?

Is it the agriculture industry that employs so many people and provides us with great food and beverages?

Is it our central location that places us within an hour of the mountains and 2-3 hours from major cities?

Is it our wonderful medical community with its top quality hospitals, clinics and doctors?

While the Yakima Valley has all those great features and many, many more, it is my opinion that the best thing about the Yakima Valley is its people.

People who do not hesitate to give their money to several capital campaigns such as the SOZO Sports Complex, the YMCA Aquatics Center and the Central Plaza or non-profits including the United Way, the YWCA, the Yakima Schools Foundation, Rod's House and the Greenway Foundation.

People who join service groups, such as Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs, that give so much volunteer time to projects and causes.

People who step up when their friends and neighbors need a helping hand after losing a loved one, suffer a medical emergency or have another issue.

People who will smile and say "hello" when you pass them on the street.

People who will hold the door open for you when you are entering a shop or restaurant.

I have lived in several communities and, while each of these areas had a lot of wonderful qualities, they did not possess the great people who reside in the Yakima Valley.

I am amazed whenever I travel that the people do not seem as friendly as the residents of our community.

We are all lucky to live in the Yakima Valley with all its great qualities and all its wonderful people!

TAX REFORM

Representative Dan Newhouse
(R-WA 4th District)

In December, I voted for, and Congress approved, The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, crossing the finish line to provide the first major overhaul of our nation's tax system in 31 years. Providing pro-family, pro-growth tax reform is a major promise delivered to the American people.

Reducing the U.S. corporate tax rate from one of the highest rates in the industrialized world, from 35 percent to 21 percent, will help American companies to compete, spurring capital investment and job growth. Small businesses and farmers will benefit by the ability to immediately write off the full cost of new equipment purchases. Allowing entrepreneurs to deduct 20 percent on pass-through business income will boost Main Street employers. Increasing the number of businesses and families that are shielded from the unfair death tax will allow more family farms and small businesses to pass on the success of a lifetime of hard work to the next generation.

Tax Reform a Win for Washington Families and Businesses

For working families in the 4th Congressional District, our reform will reduce the burden of taxation. 80 percent of filers in Central Washington file using the standard deduction. Our plan doubles the standard deduction from $6,350 to $12,000 for individuals and $12,000 to $24,000 for married couples. Doubling the child tax credit from $1,000 to $2,000 helps families with the cost of raising children. Finally, 88 percent of taxpayers in Washington who pay the Affordable Care Act's onerous tax penalty, the individual mandate, make $75,000 or less. Our bill lifts that burden completely by doing away with the individual mandate.

Already, tax reform has been good news for workers. As soon as the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act was approved in Congress, major Washington State employer Boeing announced $300 million in investments for workers and communities. I am looking forward to 2018 being a year of new opportunities for American businesses and families to keep more of your hard-earned paychecks.

Veteran Employment By the Numbers: America's Heroes At Work (Infographic)

Brave members of the U.S. military answer the call to defend our country and its freedoms, traveling all over the world to serve our nation. However, upon returning home, many find it difficult to find and secure meaningful work in the civilian world. But the veteran employment tide is turning.

The business community is stepping up, and many of these heroes, who have sacrificed so much, are coming home to an increasing number of enriching job opportunities. In fact, today, veterans are now among the top three recruiting targets for U.S. companies.

This turning point underscores the greater American business community's growing commitment to helping those who valiantly served our country find jobs, easing the crucial transition from the battlefield to the civilian working world.

For a closer look at how the veteran employment landscape is changing, check out the informative infographic below.
